A WORD ABOUT:

Glacier 3000 (not included):

There is only one suspension bridge in the world that connects two mountain peaks. It is called Peak Walk by Tissot. It can be found at Glacier 3000. And it invites you to an adventure that you will not easily forget.

The Peak Walk by Tissot is the highlight of the glacier adventure: It connects the smaller peak (View Point) with the 5 meter higher main peak (Scex Rouge) and takes all guests to incredible heights. The 107 metre long and 80 centimetre wide bridge offers a stunning view onto the Alps: Matterhorn, Mont Blanc, Eiger, Mönch and Jungfrau are visible from the bridge and offer grandiose views, far off into the distance. The suspension bridge is free of charge and open year-round subject to weather conditions.

- Open all year except 21 October - 8 November 2019
- Round trip from Col du Pillon to Scex Rouge "Glacier 3000"
- The cableway runs every 20 minutes from 09.00 - 16.30 o'clock (please note season times)
- Only paper tickets available
- Travellers who are 16 years and older are considered as adults
